| Project Description  |
|---|
| The project will be a programme of work addressing the needs of victims and survivors who represent some of the most vulnerable people living in the BT 14 area of north Belfast. Essential counselling services and a wide range of holistic therapies will be available through the project, as well as a structured series of reintegration activities focussing on individual need. The reintegration activities are designed to increase levels of confidence/self esteem so that participants may progress along a continuum of self development and ultimately accredited training on offer such as: IT, complementary therapy training and other educational programmes. Trauma workshops exploring themes such as - anger management, reconciliation and life beyond trauma will be delivered under the project. |

| Fit with Programme   |
|---|
| The project will provide a unique holistic response to the varied needs of victims and survivors living in an area (BT14) in which the depth of deprivation is well documented. The promoter has extensive knowledge of the issues and outline that they have the know-how to deliver a quality programme to meet those needs. They are an approved and registered assessment centre for holistic therapies (Vocational Training Charitable Trust), their professional counselling service is governed under IACP/BACP (Irish/British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy). Their network of qualified and experienced counsellor's means that clients can access counselling locally, and because of our unique community base we are able to respond with immediacy and professionalism as problems arise. |

| Project Description   |
| Peace Radio is an innovative reconciliation activity which uses the medium of radio broadcasting and training as a catalyst for peace. Workshops will be provided which are to be attended by people from different backgrounds in which participants will work towards a common goal with a view to promoting trust and tolerance and addressing issues of sectarianism and racism. The project will be delivered in areas which have experienced particular problems as a result of the conflict. The project will focus on the young as a means of preventing future violence but will work with all people groups. |

| Project Description   |
|--|
| The Legacy Project will provide an advocacy, advice and support service to families, bereaved as a result of the conflict, who wish to engage with statutory agencies to establish the facts surrounding the death/s of their loved one/s. The service, which is free of charge, is already available to families on a cross community and cross border basis. There is a clear need to extend and build the capacity of the existing service. The process outlined in this application presumes three phases: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1) Preparation of families in advance of meetings,</li> <li>2) Accompanying families throughout the process,</li> <li>3) Delivery of report and follow-up.</li> </ol> The Legacy Project will engage with the Historical Enquiries Team of the PSNI (HET) and with the Office of the Police Ombudsman in Northern Ireland. Should the British Government appointed Consultative Group on the Past recommend a new overarching body to co-ordinate all 'historic' investigations the Legacy Project would continue its advocacy, advice and support role in the context of any new Commission appointed by the two governments and any new unit appointed by the Commission. |

| Fit with Programme  |

| Project Description  |  |  |  |
| The project aims to establish a befriending/outreach program that will co-ordinate a team of volunteer (30 by year 2) befrienders to address needs of victims and survivors in border rural areas. Volunteer befrienders will deliver 4 hours of befriending a week to victims and survivors of the conflict who are now feeling more isolated in border rural areas and in need of tailored support. The focus will be upon reaching victims that are currently beyond involvement with victim support groups. The aim is to deliver a range of support services including welfare support and advice, access to social services and activities and access to tailored training programs that will enable progress towards reconciliation. An additional aspect of this project will be the training of 8 (over 2 years) youth peer to peer mentors of second generation victims. |  |  |  |

| Project Description   |
| The grant will provide funding for staff costs, running costs and programme cost to continue to develop a Belfast city- wide, cross community partnership approach to conflict transformation at interface areas. Belfast Conflict Resolution Consortium is made up of loyalist, republican and community activists who have been working at the interfaces where they live, to control and manage violent outbreaks and potentially violent situations The aim of the project is to provide an integrated response to tensions at interfaces and prevent outbreaks of violence through fostering and expanding cross community strategic alliances and to enhance within interface communities the conflict resolution skills, local leadership capacity, democratic involvement and reconciliation efforts in order to work on the legacy of the conflict and social problems faced by interface communities |

| Fit with Programme  |
| The Project Promoter has demonstrated that the project as described within the application form fits with the overall aims and indicative actions for Theme 1.2 Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past and in particular Strand 3. The overall aim of the project is to use innovative actions to prevent further outbreaks of violence through building and repairing relationship at local interface areas. The project will do this at a community leadership level, bringing together key community activists to work within a citywide consortium, to be able to swiftly deal with interface tensions as they occur and plan for reduction of violence at key times of tension. The project will also work with the communities within these areas to build capacity which enable them to participate with the community and civic life. |

Project Description

“The project is in 2 stages, the first looks at the history of Northern Ireland, Ireland and Britain and our turbulent past. It is a reflection on who we are from the Celtic times right up through the troubles and to today. It gives an insight into why the troubles happened and focuses on what we have in common rather than what divides. It provides participants with the facts rather than the myths, and allows them a shared space in which to tell their past.

The second stage looks our history on a more global scale, our migrant history, the difficulties we encountered, our impact on the countries we went to and the similarities between us and our new neighbours, the migrants coming into Northern Ireland”.

The group propose to deliver this two-fold accredited programme to 18 groups (180 people) over the course of 3 years. It intends to target victims and survivors, people who have been excluded from economic social and civil networks, former members of the security and ancillary services and ex prisoners.

Fit with Programme

Point 2.3.3 of the application form demonstrates how the project meets the following aims and indicative actions for Theme 1.2, Strand 3:- Increase participation of marginalized & minority groups, repair relationships, build capacity, deal with the past, build positive sustainable relationships, promote inclusion and integration into wider society, conflict resolution and acknowledging and dealing with the hurt.

| Fit with Programme  |  |  |  |
| This application is a fit with the objectives of the Peace III Programme and Theme 1.2. It has been subject to Economic Appraisal. It has strong reconciliation focused actions which aim to involve participants from key target groups of the Peace III Programme in Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past. The proposal particularly seeks to equip target beneficiaries with skills and knowledge to 'deal with the past' thereby addressing legacies of the conflict on particular communities and ultimately develop positive, sustainable, inter-community relationships between participants. |  |  |  |

| The aim of this project is to work in close partnership with NICRAS (Northern Ireland Community of Refugees and Asylum Seekers) to develop a package of formal and informal training and to support integration between the host community and the growing refugee community in Northern Ireland. This project is designed 'to develop mutual understanding between the host community and growing refugee community and promote ways of dealing with difference that may reduce the likelihood of sectarian behaviour and violence and increase the potential for members of the refugee community to fully integrate into their new environment'. The project will 'aim is to reinforce progress towards a peaceful and stable society and promote reconciliation in fostering relationships between people within a shared neighbourhood'. |  |  |  |

|   |  |  |  |
|---|--|--|--|
| Fit with Programme   |  |  |  |
| The Corrymeela/NICRAS project fits with the overall aim of Strand 3 by providing an innovative project that will address/tackle the ongoing conflict related issues faced by the host community and 'unpack' the issues/fears that they may have towards the asylum and refugee communities coming to Northern Ireland. In doing so the project will seek to address and prevent the outbreak of violence in the future. |  |  |  |

| Project Description  |  |  |  |
| The project is designed to fully engage the trade union movement in building its own capacity through accredited training, research and dialogue to challenge sectarianism and racism and deal with the legacy of the conflict. It will also seek to engage at a number of levels with the business sector generally and HR and equality Managers specifically through a 'Joint declaration of Protection' for the workplace and an MSSc in Equality and Social Conflict. These various strands will together promote and consolidate good relations and anti-discriminatory practice in the workplace by encouraging all social partners to go beyond compliance to minimum standards to promoting a commitment to good relations and peace building. |  |  |  |

|   |  |  |  |
|---|--|--|--|
| Fit with Programme   |  |  |  |
| By working directly within trade union structures and particularly shop stewards they propose to support people who are already active citizens in the place in which they spend the majority of their waking lives, the workplace. The project will engage with the wider community; Build capacity to deal with the transition ; Build positive and sustainable relationships  |  |  |  |
| In doing they are allowing those most fearful of change to listen, ask, enquire and challenge and they believe that these apparently small events and actions can have a positive impact on workplace cultures and individual attitudes and behavior. The planned work with congress centers and trade councils also holds potential to bring peace and reconciliation themes and issues to a broader community based audience. Fundamental to this programme is a broad strategy of capacity building both across the trade union movement and through an MSSc in Equality and Social Conflict into relevant employer posts such as HR staff, equality managers and human rights officers. Further, through strengthening organisations ability to deal with identity politics when they inevitably arise the programme will seek to build cohesive and sustainable relationships. This programme has a very practical focus based on unique experience in building the capacity of organisations to deal with conflict and through dialog find solutions |  |  |  |

|---|--|
| The grant will be used to fund the salary, running cost and programme costs which will enable the promoter to engage with relevant cross-border statutory and voluntary organisations to develop programmes that will deal with the past and help pave the way for our divided community to be reconciled. This will be achieved through the following 5 strands: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Training the Trainers to facilitate programmes on dealing with the past with Cross-Border groups.</li> <li>2. Facilitating programmes dealing specifically with the concept of reconciliation with Local and Cross-Border groups.</li> <li>3. Facilitate training programmes on Conflict Transformation and Meditative behaviour.</li> <li>4. Cross-Border - Family Respite Programmes.</li> <li>5. Interface Monitoring Forum dealing specifically with training of "Street Mediators" to deal with sectarian violence at interface areas.</li> </ol> |  |

| Fit with Programme   |  |
|---|--|
| The project fits with the overall aims and indicative action for Theme 1.2 and Strand 3 Securing the Future. It is evident throughout the project proposal that this project seeks to be an innovative project that if successful will help prevent a return to violence. The training programmes themselves are designed to develop trainer within cross border area specifically in the north west, which will assist a new generation of facilitators, Educational and Community workers to promote reconciliation and address issues of sectarianism and racism within their local areas. This approach helps to develop and enable future leaders to develop similar programmes and deliver within their own localities which will go some way to reducing the risk of future generations resorting to violence |  |

| Project Description  |  |  |  |
| This Project aims to embed the processes of acknowledging the past as a means of securing the future in order to further education for peace and reconciliation. This will be achieved by building upon and consolidating the strengths and achievements of Peace II Ext, and entering into a phase of new development within the broader curriculum. The Project is concerned with introducing and developing the concept of reconciliation with post-primary school students. This concept will be developed within the area of citizenship education (namely Civic, Social and Political Education in Ireland and Local and Global Citizenship in Northern Ireland). The focus of the Programme is the professional development of teachers as agents of social change. This new project will take into account recommendations emerging from evaluations of previous related project |  |  |  |

|  |  |  |  |
|--|--|--|--|
| Fit with Programme  |  |  |  |
| The project has demonstrated that it fits with the overall Peace III Programme and in particular 1.2 Strand 3. The projects seeks to ensure that the processes of dealing with past by engaging youth to discuss issues such as the conflict and its legacy will be embedded within the curriculum and therefore mainstreamed for future generations to avail of. |  |  |  |

| Project Description   |  |  |  |
| An Teach Ban will implement the “Remember and Change” Programme which will support and enable communities and individuals in the process of acknowledging and dealing with the past, through story telling. This will involve the delivery of two accredited Programmes, A Journey Through Conflict and Living Beyond Conflict. In addition they will deliver a skills development programme to enable participants to implement this method of storytelling in their own communities. |  |  |  |

|   |  |  |  |
|---|--|--|--|
| Fit with Programme   |  |  |  |
| This project has strong reconciliation focused actions which aim to involve victims and survivors and participants from other key target groups of the Peace III Programme in Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past. The proposal particularly seeks to engage with individuals and groups which in the past have found it difficult to engage in such processes and individual journeys. |  |  |  |

| Project Description   |
| This project will target young people aged 13-25 years who are under-prioritised and under-represented in the peace process. It will primarily focus on 3 geographical areas: Greater Belfast, Newry/Mourne/Louth and South Tyrone/Monaghan. The project will focus on "Peace Dividends for Young People" and will deliver peace building initiatives and projects in the three localities alongside providing opportunities for young people and workers to share good practice in peace building across divided communities. The project aims to build young people's capacity as active peace builders to contribute to the development of communities that are open and safe places to enter, work and live in regardless of background. It also seeks to prevent an outbreak of violence between historical opposing communities and between indigenous communities and new minority ethnic communities. |

|  |
|--|
| Fit with Programme  |
| This project seeks to challenge attitudes and act as a catalyst to reduce sectarianism and racism. It will acknowledge and deal with the past by incorporating participative and creative methods of learning in which young people exchange thoughts and experiences on issues such as prejudice, sectarianism, racism, sexism, homophobia, identity, tradition, human rights and conflict resolution – opportunities to question and interrogate their assumptions and beliefs. The project will facilitate young people to question and interrogate the 'learned' or 'assumed' and ultimately challenge deep rooted prejudices and misconceptions and also challenge and extending peace-building practice beyond historic, political, religious, cultural and /or ethical barriers to engage young people in discussions about benefits and opportunities arising from a society emerging from conflict. It will develop new opportunities for young people to come into contact with others 'different' from themselves and explore alternatives to violence and to ascertain some understanding of the view from the other side(s). |

| Project Description  |
| Crosslinks Culture Connections is a cross-community, cross-cultural, cross-class project, using the Creative Arts to bring young people together from Catholic/Nationalist, Protestant/Unionist and ethnic minority groups to deal directly with the legacy of the past and equip them to become positive contributors in a shared society. |

|   |
|---|
| Fit with Programme   |
| The project is working with young people who are family members of victims from interface areas in Belfast. The project will engage young people to build cross community relationships and promoter reconciliation. In addition they will work on breaking the links between the young people and sectarian/racist activity. |

| Project Description  |
| The GOAL Project is a community project designed to engage members of the community in intergenerational and multigenerational learning about the past, in gaining an appreciation and understanding of the present and working with cross border and cross community groups to engage collectively for a peaceful future. Funding will cover the full-time employment of a co-ordinator, development worker and administrator. |

|   |
|---|
| Fit with Programme   |
| The project is an innovative action that will help prevent an outbreak of violence into the future, by taking action to repair relationships and by engaging the wider community in peace-building and reconciliation work . The core project's activities, courses and workshops will create awareness and promote the tolerance and acceptance of others, resulting in securing better relations within and between communities. It will engage with individuals, groups and communities that have not previously worked together and will produce exhibitions and presentations that will be viewed by the wider community, thus promoting peace building and reconciliation. |

| The promoter outlines that through the delivery of dialogue on the ground CD will offer those individuals and groups most affected by the conflict the opportunity to engage in dialogue with individuals and groups from different backgrounds and political view points and repair the negative relationships that have resulted from the past.Through the un-ravelling the jargon aspect of the programme CD will be ensuring greater understanding and appreciation for the strategic policies and action plans being used to try and ensure Northern Ireland as a society moves forward to a peaceful environment together. CD will also offer individuals and groups most affected by the conflict the chance to work together to develop pamphlets and leaflets looking at key events from the past from both view points and also answering key questions that the average person has about the future of Northern Ireland. |  |  |  |

| Fit with Programme  |
| This proposal is a fit with the objectives of the Peace III programme as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- It clearly identifies key target groups from target areas for inclusion in its proposed activities which have at their core exclusively peace building and reconciliation outcomes. This was clearly evident and articulated throughout the application.</li> <li>- The emphasis of this proposal is to engage with communities where conflict related dispute and segregation is a reality. The areas targeted are known areas where victims/survivors reside.</li> <li>- The proposal has demonstrates a strong awareness of the key reconciliation issues. It clearly and strongly articulates how this proposal will address the 5 strands of reconciliation (Hamber and Kelly).</li> <li>- There are clear links between the project activities and reconciliation outcomes.</li> </ul> |

| Project Description   |
| The proposed project is “about changing attitudes, implicit attitudes ~ those deep and often unspoken hopes and fears, prejudices, stereotypes and assumptions. This project will challenge and change attitudes to share minds. This project will break new ground in terms of approaches and techniques in pursuit of peace and a shared future. Further and on-top of the attitudinal testing, it is critical that we give community leaders and the young leaders of the future the hands and tools to do the work. The region is devoid of these skills. We need to cascade a common language for peace and a shared future throughout our communities, North and South. The project will have two mirrored components, one working with the established community leaders and influencers, as well as establishing a parallel young person’s future community leaders’ component, while continuing to deliver our anti-poverty programme of developing self-esteem, capability and employability of our young people.” |

| Fit with Programme   |
| This proposal is a fit with the objectives of the Peace III programme as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- The concepts of peace and reconciliation, cultural diversity and good relations are incorporated within the objectives of the proposal. There is adequate identification of target areas and groups for inclusion in this proposal. The proposal commits itself to totally integrate all aspects of the project on a cross border and cross community basis. It provides a detailed workplan which details interaction among a large number of participants involving 38,000 contact hours across all the actions which include peace building, reconciliation, conflict resolution, anti sectarianism and anti racism work.</li> <li>- Satisfactory analysis of impact on sectarianism and racism issues through the implementation of this proposal was evident with and clear link with aims and some indicative actions of Theme 1.2 strand 3 as per guidance notes.</li> </ul> |

| Project Description | This project will introduce the "Theatre of Witness" model to N Ireland / Border Counties. The project will address the legacy of violence through the medium of drama. The project will work with target groups to gather personal and collective stories and through the community dialogue two original productions will be created and will tour throughout the North West and County Donegal. Following each play the audience will be directly involved in discussion with the director and participants of the play. |  |  |

| Project Description   |  |  |  |
| The project will work collectively with Ex Pops and St Anthony's Retreat Centre to provide a holistic response to the needs of victims / survivors experiencing an array of conditions including PTSD (Post Traumatic Stress Disorder); anxiety; depression; suicidal impulses and feelings of hopelessness. This will include 2,070 one-to-one counselling sessions; 2,070 holistic therapy treatments to 345 beneficiaries and 12 stress management community outreach activities to 120 individuals. |  |  |  |

|   |  |  |  |
|---|--|--|--|
| Fit with Programme   |  |  |  |
| The project clearly addresses the Programme and Measure objectives as it will specifically target victims / survivors, ex prisoners, ex combatants, ex security forces and their families. The project will impact on reconciliation by reconciling participants to their own trauma and past and to each other and the roles/parts they played in the conflict. |  |  |  |

| Project Description   |
| Peoples History Initiative will empower communities to acknowledge and understand the past and look to the future. PHI will achieve this by delivering courses (unaccredited and accredited); reflective lesson workshops, lectures, by facilitating history storytelling and the production of books and exhibitions. The PHI will also support local groups to develop local history initiatives. The PHI will work with geographical communities and communities of interest. In geographical terms PHI will work in disadvantaged and conflict affected places in rural and urban contexts: interface communities. The PHI will work with educationally disadvantaged participants paying particular attention to encouraging participation from excluded people such as older people, women and minority ethnic communities |

|  |
|--|
| Fit with Programme  |
| The project clearly fits with the overall aim of Theme 1.2, Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past as The Peoples History Initiative will work with Programme target groups and within marginalised and disadvantaged areas as a direct result of the conflict. They will use history storytelling as a means of bringing about change in attitudes and reduce levels of sectarianism and racism. The promoters will pro-actively work with interface communities with a particular focus on North and South Belfast. |

| Project Description   |
| Conflicts of Interest is workshop-based series of seminars the aim of which is to enable participants to reach a more sympathetic understanding of all those affected by armed conflict. Given the history of violence on this island, this course will focus largely on the period of the “the troubles” but will also examine similar ethnic conflicts in other parts of Europe. The programme endeavours to provide participants with as wide a range of views as possible, the intention being not to diminish anyone’s own deeply held beliefs, but to present the groups with equally passionate aspirations and beliefs that might differ from their own. |

|   |
|---|
| Fit with Programme   |
| This proposal meets the aim and objectives of the Peace 111 Programme and Theme 1.2 Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past as it works directly with individuals and communities who have been directly affected by the conflict. The project aims to build skills and capacity within marginalised communities; particularly the Loyalist Communities where research has highlighted a need for this type of support for community leaders. |

| Project Description   |
| The programme aims to develop innovative actions for Peace III target groups and areas to engage in deep peace building and reconciliation work. It will work with those directly affected by the conflict including bereaved families, victims groups, border youth, young people from ex-prisoners families, refugees from international conflict zones, ethnic minority groups in a bid to build confidence, develop understanding of difference, repair relationships, break down barriers and develop tools towards healing all of which will help to prevent a future outbreak of violence and thus secure the future. |

|  |
|--|
| Fit with Programme  |
| The project clearly targets both areas and groups to implement a programme of deep peace building and reconciliation. The project will reinforce progress towards a peaceful and stable society through the direct work with victims of the conflict. The project has clear reconciliation outcomes. |

| Project Description  |
| Ballynafeigh Community Development Association, alongside participating gateway organisations seek to take the practice of “Shared Neighbourhoods” throughout Northern Ireland. This practice is a creative approach to the development and support of a shared neighbourhood within a divided society. This practice will help other groups deal with the risky concept of sharing, to address contentious issues, sustain inter community relations, celebrate positive change and therefore regenerate the social fabric of their neighbourhood/community. |

| Project Description   |
| Sharp Focus is a cross border and a cross community film production project that brings together marginalised young people from Northern Ireland and the Border Counties on the production of their own short films that address issues around reconciliation. Over the next 3yrs the Calipo Theatre Company wishes to bring 12 youth groups (120 young people in total) from North (6) and South (6) of the Border together with professional film makers to produce a series of short films (12 in total). This project seeks to use the innovative medium of film making to encourage young people 'to address issues around integration, inclusion and reconciliation'. Part of the process will involve the young people taking part in a series of residential and workshops which will 'specifically focus on the theme of reconciliation and will lead to the development of the theme in all the films' that will produced during the life of the project. |

| Project Description   |  |  |  |
| FAIR are requesting funding to deliver Borderlands Essential Skills Training and Foundational IT (BESTFIT), which will provide essential skills (in conjunction with EGSA) and ICT training (ECDL) with a peace and reconciliation focus to 90 'first and second generation victims of terrorism from rural border areas' (under thirty years of age). This project will recruit participants from rural border areas and will operate from two centres – Markethill and Enniskillen. The main aim of the project is 'to secure the future for communities traumatised by terrorist conflict'. Applicants state that the 'economic impact of the troubles has long been an area identified as one essential to be addressed in order to provide a secure and equitable future for the victims and survivors of the conflict in particular to demonstrate the benefits of peace and reconciliation. This project seeks to address this deficit by providing economic skills and peace and reconciliation training in affected border rural areas that will lock in peace and act to provide a foundation of stability and interdependence for beneficiaries'. |  |  |  |

| Project Description  |  |
| "The Impact Project is an innovative, cross-sectoral and cross-community project which will work with interface communities around respective Protestant and Catholic schools on the Limestone Road in North Belfast to address shared concerns around education and in so doing create wider opportunities to increase contact, change attitudes and build relationships that make a real difference to the lives of local people. The project will build on the success of a one year pilot between September 2007 and September 2008, which has laid the foundations for the delivery of a very successful programme. The project will utilize 2 development officers, supported by a full-time administrator and under the supervision of a highly experienced team in LNBCC to deliver a wide range of developmental programmes in furtherance of the specific aim and objectives of the project". The project proposes to deliver a number of developmental programmes such as:- <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Keyskills development project;</li> <li>• Lifeskills development project;</li> <li>• Personal Development and Mutual Understanding project;</li> <li>• IT/Website programme;</li> <li>• Capacity Building Project;</li> <li>• Creative Arts Project;</li> <li>• Saturday School programme;</li> <li>• Rickter Training Project</li> </ul> The overall aim of the project is to "rebuild relationships between people of all ages in the Duncairn and Newington areas which allow local people to work and plan for a peaceful and more prosperous future by addressing shared concerns and aspirations for the education and welfare of their children" through extended schools programmes in Currie and Holy Family Primary School. |  |

| Project Description  |
| This project will “secure a sustained peaceful future for six deprived loyalist communities in County Antrim which have had strong links with the UVF – Mount Vernon, Monkstown, New Mossley, Carrickfergus, Larne and Rathcoole. The project will continue the peace building work of the late Billy Mitchell who was a leader in achieving the “transformation of the UVF from a military to a civilian organisation”. This will be achieved through two strands: Strand 1 Community Development Strand: building strong, inclusive, broad based community organisations to fill the vacuum left by the standing down of the UVF; Strand 2 Peace Builders Strand: reinforcing the peace momentum through the recruitment and training of 184 Peace Builders drawn from all stakeholders in the communities.” |

| Project Description   |
| The project will promote active citizenship and increase participation, particularly of marginalized groups, in processes relating to building sustainable reconciliation. Through structured discussions happening simultaneously across the region, local community clusters will systematically address 6 key barriers to sustainable reconciliation and identify options to address these locally and regionally. Via a project website the different clusters will share their thoughts, learning and coalesce these for presentation at biannual workshops. The workshops will bring representatives of the clusters together with decision-makers to formulate action-plans and secure commitment for follow-through. The project aims to effect real change locally and regionally to reinforce progress towards a peaceful and stable society. |

| Project Description  |
| The Social Partnership Programme aims to support and strengthen community cohesion in N Ireland by using mediation to strengthen social partnership. It will operate in 8 local authority areas across N Ireland. This will be achieved through strengthening and supporting relationships between the statutory, public service and community and voluntary sectors, supporting existing or designing local mechanisms to enable this to happen; provision of mediation training and supporting mediators to move from training to practice development. |

|   |

| Fit with Programme   |
| The application did not meet the quality threshold for funding. The application was not for a distinct proposal, but a strategic plan for which Peace III would be a part funder. Therefore it was difficult to ascertain the specific peace and reconciliation actions, outcomes and outputs relative to Peace III and Theme 1.2 Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past |

| Project Description  |
| This project will encourage and support the community within the Rathfriland area to build cross community relationships, increase the level of cross community interaction, organise cross community events and provide leadership and capacity building and training. |

|   |
|---|
| Fit with Programme   |
| The project application did not meet the criteria for selection under Theme 1.2 Acknowledging and Dealing with Past. It had at its heart a desire to build bridges and cross community relationships within the area of Rathfriland but failed to clearly demonstrate the capacity to deliver expected peace and reconciliation outcomes. |

| Fit with Programme  |
| This proposal as currently presented was not seen to have a fit with the Peace III programme : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Despite having strong potential in terms of meeting the peace building and reconciliation agenda of Peace III, there were significant concerns and unacceptable risk regarding the governance arrangements in the delivery of the proposal. For this reason openness and transparency was questionable.</li> <li>- While it was accepted that delivery of this proposal would proactively target key Peace III target groups, not previously engaged, however it would have been preferable from a governance perspective for the identified partners to have been the applicants and engaged Gaslight Media Trust / Gaslight Productions through an open procurement process to deliver these epilogues workshop programmes on a commercial basis on their behalf.</li> <li>- Despite the strong need for this type of intervention, the need for the methodology of delivery proposed has not been demonstrated.</li> </ul> |

| Project Description  |
| This project seeks to tackle issues of sectarianism, racism, intolerance and segregation by developing accredited training programmes for young people. With a focus on Exploring Cultural Diversity and Promoting Peaceful Societies, these training programmes will be tailored to the needs of young people in County Cavan. Training will be delivered by youth leaders who have been equipped with skills to deliver peace building training programmes, which constitutes the second focus on this project, the development of local capacity to train Cavan's young people. Lastly the project seeks to reinforce what Cavan's young people have learn on these programmes by setting up and running events county wide on similar themes of anti-sectarianism, anti-racism and cultural diversity, targeted at the wider community. In this way, what young people learn on training programmes will be mirrored and reinforced through similarly renewed sensitivity and appreciation of these issues among their families and communities. |

| Project Description   |
| The CCM10 Project engages young 18 – 25 year old marginalised, socially excluded individuals with negative life experiences. It focuses on building their capacity offering accredited and non accredited education and training. The key development areas of the Project will be increasing reliability amongst the young people, increasing flexibility amongst the young people, health and fitness (including positive mental health), literacy/numeracy, positive attitude and willingness to work/involve themselves positively in their own community, develop personality, develop ability, experience cultural diversity and cross community contact, open pathways to lifelong learning, provide counselling/guidance and referral to other services where appropriate. |

| Fit with Programme  |
| The project is clearly targeting the participants most at risk and from areas disadvantaged by the conflict however the core focus of the programme is the personal development of the young people involved and with only 28 days contact and a limited amount of peace building work. The reconciliation element of the programme is weak. Target areas have been named however there is little evidence of work with local structures or groups in the areas. |

| This project will establish and develop a trauma recovery hub and one stop shop to support organisations who work with victims/survivors of NI political conflict through collaborative and strategic partnership working. Through the partnership between groups facilitated by TRN work will evolve to create an independent political voice working for synergy in the sector to address the legacy of fragmentation and dissipation. In relation to dealing with the past and securing the future a variety of approaches will be pursued involving the sector and the wider community including: service information gathering and signposting, discussion forums real and online, creative and innovative approaches to marking the 40th anniversary of the start of the conflict and facilitating the development of good governance and standards through a community development approach. |

| Fit with Programme  |
| The proposal certainly fits within the wider concept of acknowledging and dealing with the past and in particular the truth recovery process however it is not clear how it will impact on cultural diversity or good relations. There is not enough evidence of cross community contact within the proposal and not enough evidence of support services for participants who actively engage with the project and need counselling support. |

| Project Description  |
| Over three years the project CAPABLE will recruit 250 participants who are victims/ survivors of terrorism and professionally archive their experiences. The Project will cover the rural border areas throughout Northern Ireland and corresponding areas in the Irish Republic and will be conducted from two centres – Markethill (FAIR) and Enniskillen (Ely Centre) with other network partners being involved in participant delivery. Archiving will be a balanced reflection of the experiences of victims/ survivors. The recording of the experience of the horror of conflict can then be used to produce video and documentary archive and will follow with bicentre youth educational component utilising project outcomes as a basis for peace and reconciliation training. |

| Project Description  |
| NBEC wish to employ a full time co-ordinator and administrator for the Building for a Better Future Programme. They will on an annual basis engage with 10 persons (30 in total over 3 years) who have been identified as being unemployed, have been affected as a result of the conflict and come from interface/disadvantage areas that have high levels of sectarian and racial incidents. The project seeks to place participants in a community facility for a 6 month period while they will be given appropriate peace &amp; reconciliation, capacity building, citizenship and job related training. After the 6 month period, they will be supported in accessing employment with employers being encouraged to offer permanent employment with the offer of a 3 month wage subsidy. Each participant will be required to contribute 10 hrs voluntary work in their community each month over the final 6 month period to help build the capacity of other individuals |

| Fit with Programme  |
| This proposal failed to meet the quality threshold for selection under Theme 1.2 Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past. Whilst this is an innovative project which has a proven record in building the capacity and providing support to individuals to enable them to gain employment, it is not an eligible action under EU ERDF funding and employment is not the main focus of Theme 1.2. |

| Project Description  |
| To provide community development expertise at the grass roots level of the PUL community in North Belfast, enabling them to engage in intra community and inter community dialogue and joint economic and social initiatives over time which will benefit individuals suffering from social and economic deprivation as a result of the legacy of conflict in the area. The aim is to address the low levels of engagement, participation and enable those involved make a more positive contribution to their own future and that of the communities in which they live and have an interest. |

| Project Description  |
| The project aims to break the silence of the conflict by providing people with an opportunity to tell their story. This involves putting in place both permanent and mobile recording studios to gather stories from people. The stories will be archived and presented on an interactive website. In addition selected stories will be broadcast on radio and published in a book. |

|   |
| Fit with Programme   |
| While much of the project clearly addresses the Programme and Measure objectives and Peace and reconciliation and the core target group is victims/survivors, a substantial range of the planned activities are not eligible under Strand 3. Therefore the Project was rejected as it did not meet the Priority/Theme Criteria nor the Efficiency/Effectiveness Criteria. |
